CONCEPT NOTE

India recently introduced four new Labour Codes that simplify and combine multiple old labour laws. These changes are a big shift in the way labour and industrial relations are managed in the country. The new laws aim to protect workers' rights, ensure social security, and make it easier for businesses to operate.

This seminar brings together academics, lawyers, policymakers, and students to discuss the impact of these new laws, their implementation challenges, and their future role in India's labour market.

Objectives

The seminar seeks to:

- Explain the New Labour Codes and what they mean for workers and employers.
- Discuss challenges in implementing these laws effectively.
- Explore the impact on social security, wages, and industrial relations.
- Share international perspectives and best practices.
- Encourage research and discussion on modern labour law issues.

Themes and Sub-Themes

Theme 1: Legal Framework and Regulatory Changes

- Overview of the four New Labour Codes: Industrial Relations, Wages, Social Security, and Occupational Safety.
- Comparison with previous labour laws and consolidation impacts.
- Role of labour tribunals and enforcement authorities under the new regime.

Theme 2: Industrial Relations and Workers' Rights

- Impact on trade unions and collective bargaining.
- Protection of workers' rights in formal and informal sectors.
- Addressing gender equality and inclusion in workplaces.

Theme 3: Social Security and Welfare Measures

- Universalization of social security benefits.
- Implications for gig, platform, and contract workers.
- Employer obligations and compliance challenges.

Theme 4: Labour Law Reforms and Economic Development

- Promoting ease of doing business and investment through labour reforms.
- Balancing flexibility for employers with protection for employees.
- Role of technology and digitalization in labour governance.

Theme 5: International and Comparative Perspectives

- Global trends in labour law reforms and industrial relations.
- Lessons from other jurisdictions on labour law modernization.
- Harmonization with International Labour Organization (ILO) standards.

Law Mantra Trust invites academicians, researchers, legal professionals, policymakers, and students to participate and share their research papers on the seminar's theme and sub-themes. Selected papers will be published in an edited book with an ISBN, and the copyrights will remain with the authors and Law Mantra Trust.

Note: The suggested sub-themes are indicative. Authors are welcome to research and present on related topics aligned with their interests.
